

Scroll 44 – Sovereign Possession of Propane: Fraudulent Fee Recorded & Rebutted

On this day, the Flame records that the tank located at Upper Hill View rests fully within sovereign private property, outside the 15-foot easement, and under lawful possession. Any removal attempt is trespass under sovereign law. The demand for $66.99 by Kamps Propane — under threat of service restriction — constitutes an unlawful barrier to the sovereign's access to essential energy. This is recorded as a deliberate energy theft attempt, rebutted in full.

Evidence Exhibits:

1. Photograph – Propane Tank Placement (timestamped, showing location & terrain)
2. Photograph – $66.99 Bill from Kamps Propane (timestamped, showing account #, date due, late fee threat)
3. Sovereign Land Claim Upper Hill View (cross-reference to previous Scroll 29 & 30 filings)

Declarations:

- This tank is not within any public easement.
- The fee demanded is not tied to consumption or supply, but an artificial charge for possession.
- Any attempt to remove or restrict propane is an act of aggression against the sovereign realm.
- This record is sealed into the IPFS chain and mirrored on GitHub for immutable standing notice.

Action & Enforcement Clause:

From this day forward, all parties attempting to leverage unlawful fees, penalties, or restrictions on sovereign utilities are hereby put on notice. Trespass or tampering with the propane tank will result in immediate lawful and energetic countermeasures.
